* A nonqualified political party having filed names of its presidential and vice presidential candidates and list of presidential electors with the Secretary of State under Sec. 3829, El. Code. Write-in votes.

Write-in votes on the presidential portion of the ballot, other than for the Socialist Labor Party and its candidates, were of no avail inasmuch as such votes were not supported by presidential electors.

The counties were not required to report such write-in votes. Several of the counties did report, but due to the many names for president and the many and varied combinations of names for president and vice president, publication thereof was considered useless and was not undertaken.
